Letter From Page.

[Correspondence of Alexandria Gazette.] LURAY, Va., Sept. 18, 1894 .- One of the old landmarks of Luray is about to give way to the steady growth of our town. The big brick building long known as the bank, on main street, the known as the bank, on main street, the tallest in the town, has long been considered very unsafe and will be torn down. Our new bank, started since the new year, is the purcha w, and a fine, modern built building will take it place. Our new bank is doing a phenomenally extensive and safe business, and under the supervision of Mr. J. V. Lamison as president, and Mr. C. S. Jamieson as president, and Mr. C. S. Landram as cashier, has already over-come the strong feeling that the failure of the two former banks necessarily brought about among our people against banks. The feeling of safety and trust already inspired by the new bank is an omen of its future career as a business institution carefully and pru dently conducted.

Luray has no means of defeuse against fire, not even a hand engine, and outside of the tannery of the Defords, not an inch of piping or of hose.

As for water our only resource is the cisterns and private pumps.

Seeing how necessary some system of supplying the town with water has become, both as the means of keeping insurance rates down as well for the convenience and safety of the people, an carnest move is now on foot looking to the laying of pipes and the building of a reservoir. There are several fine springs, some few miles off, and from one of these the supply will be obtain-ed. Our town council and our people generally have taken the matter in hand, and it is thought some definite system will be agreed upon and the matter started upon a successful basis.

Too much cannot be said of the great good the Messrs. Deford, of Baltimore, have done this section by their large tannery at this place. As a symptom of a renewal of business that is being felt throughout the business world, these gentlemen are about building a new stack in order to accommodate ex-tensive increase of their tannery.

The two large stacks already built will be added to by a new one larger than the former, and this work has al-ready been begun. When finished 400 hides will be turned out daily and an increase of 100 hands will be made, giving employment to not less than 350

Sam Small was one of the attractions at the large camp meeting held here on the edge of our town and which closed a few days since. This camp was the largest ever held in Page, and the attendance reached, it is thought, 7,000 persons. It is proposed to make the camp a yearly one, and establish it on a business basis.

A BIG VESSEL.—The largest vessel ever built in America will be launched at the famous Cramp shipyard next month. The giant merchantman, the six-decker St. Louis of the American Line, will receive its initial baptism in the waters of the Delaware and an era in the history of the American merchant marine will be inaugurated. While not as large as the Lucania and her twin sister, the Campania, nor endowed with their horsepower, the St. Louis will be greater and swifter than the Paris or New York and will make at least 20 knots an hour on her trans-Atlantic voyages. The new vessel is more than one-tenth of a mile long, being 554 feet over all, with an extreme beam af 63 feet and a tonnage of 11,000
